A Trip Through Three Generations of Americana

starring Den & Bobbie West

Dennis and Bobbie love playing and singing and have literally performed around the world. Many of their performances have been headlining overseas and at sea on some of the largest and grandest cruise ships ever built, where they have shared the stage with many famous entertainers. They have also performed at home in Nashville at many festivals, churches and outdoor concerts as well as at the legendary Ryman Auditorium. Den and Bobbie have an award-winning ICM recording entitled Look For The Old Road.

Bobbie was born in Nashville, Tennessee. She was raised in a musical household, with her mom and dad performing gospel music throughout her early years. At seventeen she hit the road with a Gospel trio touring throughout the United States and abroad. Bobbie's voice has a tone that has been called "that golden tone" by many acclaimed record producers.

Den is an accomplished multi-instrumentalist, playing an eclectic array of string instruments. He began performing in church at the age of twelve and started playing professionally at the age of fifteen. Den performs everything from finger style, rock, slide and blues guitar to mandolin, ukulele and five-string banjo. He is known for the angelic tones that come from his pedal steel guitar.

The Wests enjoy traveling, hiking, writing and recording. They make their home just outside Nashville, Tennessee.
