The Westchester Community College hosted the Rat Pack Encore on April 21, 2007 to perform in the College's "Smart Arts" cultural series. Each of the three performers was fabulous in his own right, but as an "ensemble", they were truly amazing as they recreated the ambience of that great Vegas past.

The camaraderie and banter between solo performances worked wonderfully well as being a dynamic force in connecting one act to another. The performers were multi-talented as they paid homage to their stars. The singing, humor, dancing and demeanor were superbly executed in the tribute performances.

The audience was packed and thoroughly entertained. People left the theatre joyfully excited at the performance they had seen which was of the highest caliber.

On a special note the entertainers and band members were easy to deal with and quite personable. Overall, this group was a huge success and a pleasure. Highly recommended for audiences and venues worldwide!

Cordially yours,
